sink the country we formed in 1969. Bribery and illegal activities have been carried out to enrich personal wealth. The government has not been able to stop these activities and has failed to prevent the spread of corruption. The government has also been criticized for its lack of accountability and transparency. Despite these challenges, the government has made some progress in recent years, but there is still a long way to go to achieve the desired results.

In conclusion, the situation in the country is complex and challenging. The government needs to take decisive action to address these issues and ensure that the people are treated fairly and equitably. The government must also ensure that its policies are implemented effectively and that there is accountability and transparency in all its operations.

References:
1. World Bank.
2. International Monetary Fund.

Glossary:
- Bribery: the offering, giving, receiving, or acceptance of anything of value in exchange for influence or favors in the performance of official duties.
- Transparency: the clarity of a public's vision of the actions and decision-making processes of the government.
- Accountability: the responsibility of government officials to be answerable for their actions.

Figures:
- Total population: 1200 million
- GDP: $30 trillion
- Unemployment rate: 5%
- Corruption index: 60

Graphs:
- Bar graph showing the distribution of wealth among the population
- Line graph showing the trend in government spending
- Pie chart showing the percentage of the population living below the poverty line.